The marriage of Yvette Gullbert to Dr. Max Schiller, which was celebrated in Parls, has created much comment by the friends of the contracting parties.

H. EVANS ARRESTED. Shortly before her departure for Parls, HE strongly her views of matrimony, as well as: what particular qualities she wished for in the man who would one day desire to possess her heart and hand. The following is, in part, what she then said:

"You ask me why it is more difficult for an artist of the stage to marry. Well, I think it is more difficult because she has an ideal in love absolucely different from the of other neads.

St. Louis, May 12.-Two desks, a type- situation. writer, a safe full of records that tell nothing and three "supreme" officers who would like to draw their salaries are all that remain of the Provident Union Insurance Company, which held forth in luxurious style in the Chemical Building for six months. Supreme Inspector John V. Ryan has disappeared and left behind him just 28 cents to pay the claims of policy holders.

The career of the Provident Mutual Company was brief but brilliant. Ryan supplied the brilliance and lack of funds was the principal reason for its brevity. Ryan, smooth of tongue and majestle of manner, was an impressive down by the provident Spanish Logaries. try was floeded with circulars from the law department of the Bankers' and Merchants' Interchange. On these new circulars the two lawyers had apparently dropped out. They are now counsel for Dean & Co. The circulars were sent to the creditors who had lost their money. Informing them that they were acting for the creditors as comsel to collect their money. They evidently had a copy of all the names of the investors.

"In my opinion this Bankers' and Merchants' Interchange, which is still run by J. Hotchkiss Evans and Robert J. Knov, is an auxiliary of Dean & Co. Evans in duced people to invest. They followed his advice, sent on their money and lost it. He now appears with Knov as inwyer of the scheme to berfield the robbed investors, thus seeking to control the only persons whom Dean & Co. have to fear."

Lawyer Bell was interested in a circular from this same interchange concern. It had been sent to the Journal by a Virgin subscriber. Evans's first guarantee agency was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey with a capital of $50,000.

The circular reports that the "interchange" had opposed the continuance of the temporary receiver on the ground that he was appointed by application of the Dean company. It advises aggressive action, and solicits that claims against the E. S. Dean Company be left with the "interchange."
